'UP TO COMMUNITY'

No Report Yet Made of Canvass of City

No new development in the status of Boy Scout work in Port Arthur, reported hanging on the ragged edge; financially, could be ascertained today.

Facing the cold facts that Scouting in the city is about to go to pieces, members of the executive board of the Port Arthur Council declared they put their faith in the future of organization upon the spirit of the community to see the boys' work over the present crisis.

"The present situation of scouting here is bad," Fred P. Dodge, immediate past president of the Scout Council, said, "but it has got to come out ok, and I believe we will begin to see results in a very few days," he added.

In Critical Stage

List of names for each member of the executive board to solicit for funds for the $5,000 budget campaign have been given out. Munges T. Hall, president of the Scout Council declared Thursday. No report on the results of the board members canvassing was available today, a check-up developed.

"The community is to take its choice now whether Scouting will be continued or discontinued," George M. Sims, superintendent of the city (Turn to Page 3, Column 1.)

By United Press.

CINCINNATI, May 23.—"Golden Rule" Nash saved himself becoming a millionaire today and answered the question he had asked the world by distributing the 100 per cent dividend his clothing firm declared among the workers.

He had asked "What shall I do with my million?" Most of the answers advised him to leave at least a portion of the wealth to the writers.

"If I had done that or kept the money for myself," he told the four thousand workers today, "I should have been worse than a thief. I should have stolen your work. You earned this money. I am giving it back to you."

Monkeys on Floating Isle Attack Vessel Off Borneo

NEW YORK, May 23.—An attack upon the steamer President Adams of the Dollar Line by monkeys which pelted the vessel with coconuts from giant trees on large floating islands, was described today by Captain Jonas Pendlebury when the liner arrived here after a round-the-world voyage.

As President Adams was penetrating the Palawan passage between Borneo and the Malay peninsula, according to Captain Pendlebury he and his officers observed a number of large islands approach the vessel. From the tops of their giant palms, twice the height of the steamer's masts, came a rain of coconuts.

Captain Pendlebury put on steam and got his vessel safely away. He said there also were some giant snakes, which swung out from the islands and endeavored to wrap themselves around the ship.

SUNDAY CLOSING LAW UNDER FIRE

Beaumont Grocers Attack Ordinance
Special to The News.
BEAUMONT, Texas, May 22.—An attack on the Sunday closing law as it applies to grocery stores was made Friday morning in 25th district court by Attorney Kitchings, representing a number of grocers fined in city corporation court during the past week.
A Beaumont ordinance provides that groceries cannot be sold on Sunday, but an attempt to prove the ordinance to be illegal was made by the grocers. Kitchings contended that almost anything with the exception of groceries could be purchased on Sunday including clothing, automobile tires—in fact anything but groceries.
Attorney J. T. McNeill, former county purchasing agent and recently appointed assistant city attorney made his first appearance in district court on the case. He, of course, defended the city, but said that if the strict letter of the law were followed, there were a number of other articles, now being sold that the storekeepers could be fined for selling on Sunday.
Judge O'Brien took the case under advisement and said he could render his decision Monday morning.

RELIEF WAS PERMANENT SAYS MRS. M'FARLAND

"I Can Certainly Vouch For Tanlac Being a Wonderful Medicine," She Says.
People who are having health troubles may buy Tanlac on the assurance of more than 100,000 well known men and women who have publicly testified to the splendid results they have derived from its use.
Furthermore, they may buy Tanlac on its record for producing not only immediate, but lasting results. For thousands of people who recovered their health one, two, three, and even seven and eight years ago by the use of Tanlac are now testifying daily that they are "still strong and well." Offering her experience as further evidence of the wonderful health-giving and health-preserving properties of Tanlac, Mrs. S. W. McFarland, a prominent Dallas, Texas woman, residing at 3235 Tremont St., says:
"I don't know anything better I could say for Tanlac than that I am still enjoying the splendid health it brought me several years ago. For years I had suffered from loss of appetite, rheumatism in my knee and shoulder, extreme nervousness and lack of sleep.
"Finally a druggist recommended Tanlac and when I began taking it I was in such a condition physically that I was scarcely able to be up and about. After a few weeks use of Tanlac my troubles disappeared, my weight increased 20 lbs., and I found my health and strength fully restored. I certainly can vouch for Tanlac being a wonderful medicine and tonic."
Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 million bottles sold.

STOLEN TRUNK LEADS TO CLUE

Four Men Hauled It Away,
Says Roomer

The mysterious disappearance and later re-appearance of a large trunk, said by police to belong to Mrs. M. Richard, 147 West Fourteenth street, is keeping several members of the police department busy today in an attempt to find the abductors.

The trunk was stolen from in front of Mrs. Richard's home and found Thursday morning on the Southern Pacific tracks after having been opened and searched, the police report.

Mrs. Richard informed the police that she arrived in Port Arthur during the evening and sent her trunk to her home where it was delivered by the transfer men and placed in front of the house.

A roomer at Mrs. Richard's home told the police that he saw four men come to the house later in the evening, pick up the trunk and start to take it away until he prevented them. During the night the same four men came after the trunk, the roomer says, and before he could prevent them they had put it in a truck and whisked it down an alley.

schools and members of the executive board of the Boy Scouts of America today in a critical condition right now. Yet I believe the community is too wise to let Boy Scout work be discontinued. Surely the local organization is too old and of too much value to be forgotten and allowed to pass out of existence.

A review of the benefits that he had noted as direct results from the Scout work in Port Arthur was given by Superintendent Sina, better grade of manhood and boyhood, better quality of gentleness, more respect for law and order, decrease in juvenile delinquency, better attendance at the schools and a better grade of work turned out by the students who are Scouts are among the results of scouting cited by the superintendent of schools.

Boy Welfare Asset

"Not one of the boys brought before me during the past four years I have been probation officer in Port Arthur has been a member of the Port Arthur Boy Scout organization," E. A. McGlachlin, probation officer and physical director in the city schools, said today.

"Should Port Arthur lose Scout work, and that is what is threatening there would be taken out of the lives of boys of this city the greatest asset they have for providing wholesome and clean occupation during their leisure time," the probation officer said. "Scouting is peculiarly developed to take care of the most dangerous period in boys' lives, to provide them with aims to accomplish definite things and create right impulses and habits at a time when habits are fixed and characters determined for life."

"I know of dozens of instances where Scouting has made law abiding boys who had no regard for law and order and the better things until they joined the Boy Scout organization," McGlachlin declared. "The benefits to boys in the Boy Scout organization morally and physically cannot be measured."

How to build up your Weight

To be under weight often proves a fighting power in the body. It often means you are minus nerve-power, minus red-cells in your blood, minus health, minus vitality. It is serious to be minus, but the moment you increase the number of your red-blood-cells, you begin to become plus. That's why S. S. S., since 1825, has meant to thousands of underweight men and women, a plus in their strength. Your body fills to the point of power, your flesh becomes firm, the age lines that come from thinness disappear. You look younger, firmer, happier, and you feel it, too, all over your body. More red-blood-cells! S. S. S. will build them.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

Athletic Show to Aid City's Day Nursery

The Port Arthur Day Nursery will receive 5 per cent of the net proceeds to be derived from an athletic entertainment to be given at Port Arthur park in Port Neches, May 30, according to an agreement entered into by Mrs. K. A. Young, president of the day nursery and E. L. McComber, of the Stillwell Athletic association, is in charge of the entertainment. Mayor J. P. Logan announced this morning after sanctioning the agreement.

The program will consist of baseball games, Boy Scout drills, Camp Fire drills and other forms of entertainment it was announced.

The men who have the concession at the park will continue to operate as usual, the Mayor said.

CHAMBER TAKES DEFINITE STEPS

of cotton price fluctuations it has been a success. Port Arthur can offer inducements for such mills that probably no other Texas city can afford. I favor the working out of a sensible business plan to bring an eastern cotton mill here. We need the light of eastern experience and will be saved from jumping into a fly-by-night stock promotion scheme," Lehmann said.

Lehmann was asked just what advantages Port Arthur can offer to eastern capital at the present time to pull in a plant.

"The main thing is we have the female labor right here. Our Dallas trip shows that 60 per cent of the work in cotton and garment factories is done by women. We have women here, wives of industrial workers, who are now ready to go to work. Other cities of Texas can't offer this particular inducement. Then the shipping facilities and nearness to the cotton raising center of the world are also to our advantage," he replied.

In a Mood to Move

Manager Borge said the interview with J. Perry Burrus one of the leading manufacturers of the south revealed that eastern capitalists are in a mood to entertain a reasonable proposition to come south with their cotton mills.

"According to Burrus, there are many mills in the New England states which haven't turned a wheel for five years because of labor conditions and others," Port Arthur can show these capitalists that by coming here the labor condition will be excellent from the beginning. It should go a long way in getting them to consider a proposition," Borge said.

Burge also was of the opinion that a location for the plants, probably arising from the removal of one of the inoperative plants from the east and some local stock subscriptions, would be part of what this city would be expected to do from a financial standpoint.

MODEL HOME IDEA FAVORED

Unique Idea To Be Criterion For Home Builders

With preliminary arrangements out of the way and all details of the program for Better Homes in Port Arthur and Jefferson county completed, plans for construction of the city's first Model Home are ready for the builder.

The home will be built under the personal supervision of Mrs. C. J. Gill, directing sales manager of the Jefferson County Investment and Loan company, and is being sponsored by The Port Arthur News to foster the idea of better home building in this city and to show how easily excellent, ideal homes can be built at a nominal expense and within the reach of every man of average income.

The Model Home will be constructed on a lot in Dryden Place. It may stand for all time upon its completion to act as a criterion of the future to prospective builders of homes. The first plan to dispose of the structure and the lot after the building was completed, but according to Mrs. Gill, who represents the organization financing the home, "Port Arthur may have a permanent Model Home."

All materials and equipment going into the building will be contributed to the structure by local merchants and business houses; it will be correctly lighted; it will be correctly constructed, having only the best materials; it will be landscaped by the Getting Newsweek; it will be a beautiful, attractive, lovable, home-like structure that is intended to appeal to the average housewife and husband who contemplates making Port Arthur his home for all time, Mrs. Gill said.

The Editorial Mind

However, comma— Odds and Ends and Comment on Our Morning Mail

Every day at least 35 Americans commit suicide. Last year there were 12,345 who killed themselves. These are the known cases. Many others—probably thousands—died away with themselves, never to be discovered.

The league estimates that a third of the suicides are due to insanity. As a matter of fact, all suicides are temporarily unbalanced mentally. That is why the person, depressed and tempted to take his own life, should wait at least 24 hours.

A delay almost always changes the decision from self-destruction to the normal desire for self-preservation. And tomorrow may bring better things. It is always blackest just before dawn.

Poverty, remorse, sickness and loneliness are the principal reasons for suicide. At least two of them can be mastered—poverty and loneliness. Sickness, too, usually is not hopeless. Remorse, of course, cannot be escaped except by atonement.

Twenty per cent of last year's suicides, it is estimated, were due to business failures. Despair is a better way of expressing it—or lack of courage to fight for a come-back.

Sex complications are believed to cause a third of all suicides. Rejected lover, deserted wife, loss of a mate by death. A catastrophic emotion is born. Without it, most people do not consider life worth living.

But the most pathetic among the suicides are the children. Four thousand between ages of 10 and 15 killed themselves in 1923. Generally they were victims of unhappy homes, pleasant school experiences, youthful marriages or jazz life.

Hesitate you who are so morbidly and depressed that you are on the borderline of mental instability. Tomorrow will be a brighter day. Sunshine follows every storm. And the commandment, "Thou shalt not kill," applies as much to self-destruction as to the killing of others.

Adventure lurks in the most unexpected places. You'd never imagine it, but lion hunting is a tame sport compared with hunting orchids in the jungle, says John E. Lacer, veteran hunter.

These beautiful flowers are defenseless, so they make their homes in virtually inaccessible regions infested by poisonous snakes, alligators and disease-bearing insects.

Even the jungle flower is as intent on obtaining old as the scientist experimenting with monkey glands.

All orchids used to be imported from the jungles. This was stopped by law five years ago.

Americans now grow their own orchids by artificially duplicating the tropical climate in which orchids thrive. Man has superb intelligence—where money is the goal.

In the whole country are not more than 100 orchid growers. The supply is never equal to the demand. That's what keeps the prices high. Here, possibly, is the opportunity you seek.

Lichening causes only 12 million dollars of fire losses a year. So estimates the weather bureau. For some mysterious reason, Illinois has more losses than any other state.

Men-caused fires destroy about 50 times as much property as lightning. Yet all people fear lightning. And few fear matches, cigarette stubs and other causes of fire. Teach your children that there is more danger in a match than in a lightning bolt.

Only 5 out of every 200 American farmers are receiving service from electric light and power companies. Many others, of course, have their own generating plants on the farm.

But, with cities and towns being electrified almost without exception, it's surprising how slowly electric service is being extended to the farms. A link is very definitely missing, and the link may be transmission of electric power by radio, which inevitably will be the eventual way.

Meanwhile, water-power—which will be one of the greatest future electric generators—must be conserved for the public. Concentration of water-power in private hands, headed for monopoly, is an increasing menace.

The underworld is quick to adopt the latest in science. Now they're using color photography in counterfeiting. A banknote faked by this method is difficult to detect. And one counterfeiter's work looks just like another's. In older methods, each counterfeiter had peculiarities that showed in his work, so that detectives, studying the fake, would recognize almost instantly the identity of the veteran maker.

Labor "turnover" is a big item of expense to industry. Some corporations find, by their cost systems, that it costs them as much as $150 every time a skilled employee leaves and a new one has to be broken in.

Why not keep employees on the job by giving them this $150 apiece periodically instead of spending it in labor turnover? This is already being done by the Anacostia Copper Co., in Chile, which pays "attendance bonuses."

Some one has said that an organization is as hard to get together and keep together as a church choir.

LADIES, "GONE ARE THE GOOD OLD DAYS" IN TEXAS

Four years ago there was a sprinkling of the fair sex on the Texas delegation sent to the San Francisco convention. Miss James Jessie Daniel Ames, Minnie Fisher Cunningham, Miss Marsie Neal and W. E. Spell were delegates while Miss Florence Sterling E. Neal was sent as delegate from her respective districts. There is a scramble on for delegates at large this year and the delegates who sit in the Waco convention will pick the list.

Mrs. Emily Newell Blair of Missouri, vice chairman of the democratic national committee has made known that there would be nearly 300 women delegates and more than 500 women delegates and alternates to the Madison Square Garden convention.

Mrs. Harriet Taylor Upton, vice chairman of the republican national committee recently informed the press that there would be 100 women delegates and 300 women delegates and alternates at the Republican national convention to be held in the city of Cleveland in June.

According to the showings made by the two vice chairmen of their respective organizations the democratic women have the best of it to the extent of 200. This is explained by Mrs. Blair who says the larger number of Democratic women delegates will be due largely to the fact that the national committee recommended that the states increase their delegations at large from four to eight members, the additional four from each state to be women.

Of the democratic states that have already named their women at large only three have omitted women, and these were presidential primary states where women neglected the opportunity to file or to vote for women candidates.

A Texas woman, Mrs. Nonie Boren Mahoney, had the honor of forcing the adoption of an equal division of the delegates at large on the 15th of January in the City of Washington where the national committee of the democratic party by a decisive vote declared that the women should have equal representation with men.

"ON TO WACO," appears to be the slogan of the Democratic women who are active in the politics of Texas. If a delegation of eight should be sent some of the more aggressive of the feminine leaders are demanding loud and should a delegation of sixteen be named they are asking for eight of the delegation.

If coming events cast their shadows before the Waco convention will be a real old fashioned convention and not a Sunday school picnic or outing.

LAME DUCK MEDILL M'CORMICK

Arthur Brisbane is responsible for the statement that the owners of the Chicago Tribune had net earnings of eight millions last year. Senator Medill McCormick is one of the owners. Illinois republicans defeated him for renomination. They gave the nomination to Charles S. Deneen, a former governor who wouldn't know what to do with a million dollars if he had it. Now it is said that President Coolidge is ready to appoint McCormick to an important diplomatic position abroad.

An administration is supposed to take care of its lame ducks. A lame duck is an imposing political personage who fell just outside of the breastworks in a primary or regular political battle. The Chicago Tribune is a great money maker but the republicans of Illinois not only defeated for renomination one of its publishers but they defeated every republican candidate for office that had been given editorial endorsement by the Tribune.

Man may have money but he is made to mourn just the same.

KANSAS REPUBLICANS WRATHY

Senator Arthur Capper of Kansas elected as a republican, has fought all the administration tax bills. Now thousands of Kansas republicans are demanding of Capper that he either get in line with President Coolidge's tax reduction program or resign. These sunflower republicans follow the standard of their party most of the time. If Capper is a republican, then Coolidge isn't. If Coolidge is a republican, Brookhart of Iowa isn't, and yet Capper and Brookhart are telling their fellow republicans in Kansas and Iowa to board the Coolidge band-wagon, be prepared to vote the republican ticket in November in order that the country may be saved from the socialist hordes and the fanatical derisives of American politics.

Congressman John W. Langley of Kentucky was betrayed by whiskey ring witnesses. They had used Langley for their own wild purposes and when promised immunity they betrayed the man who had betrayed his government and soiled his name for them. When crooks fall out justice is given an inning.

"Yes, of course, I know that," answered the young fellow. "The trouble is finding someone to pluck."

UNIFORMS AND ACTUALITIES By Dr. Frank Crane

In civic life it is not as it is in military. In the army and navy uniform is worn as a badge of honor and as a mark of distinction.

Out of all these instances there emerges a general law that real power tends to silence, while noise indicates hollowness.

An empty drum is more alarming than a siren.

So it is with the spirit of man wherein the noblest qualities seem to clothe themselves with modesty, while forwardness, boasting and the love of prominence suggests the shallow mind.

If there is a deity, some Being who controls all things and is the Almighty Source of every force known, He is certainly more shy than any creature He has made. The thunder roars, the waves boom upon the shore, lions roar and parrots screech, but He who is behind and above all these who made them and will end them at His pleasure, is but a still small voice that only the inner ear of meditation can detect.

Wisdom is modest, goodness is unconscious and love is like the deep of the sea.

The most striking characteristic of the gentleman is that he is gentle.

TEACH THE CHILD TO SAVE

Our children in America are learning the art of careful spending and are saving vast amounts.

The American Bankers' association reports that the school children in the United States deposited over nine and a half million dollars through their school savings banking systems during the school year 1922-1923.

This represents an increase of three and a half million dollars or 39 per cent over the school year 1921-1922, and six million dollars, or 62 per cent over the school year 1920-1921.

The average deposit per child, of course, is not large amounting to only $5.33, but the big point is the fact that our children are learning how to save systematically and children who early in life learn the art of saving invariably make better citizens.

HIS BROTHER'S WIFE by RUDY AYRES

BEGIN HERE TODAY

The marriage of David and Nigel Bretherton proved unhappy. When war is declared, Nigel is glad to enlist. He leaves David under the care of his sister, Mary, who is called and David marries an old sweetheart and sails with him for America.

When Nigel's brother-in-law is ashamed to tell him of David's marriage, David mistakes Mary for Nigel's wife and takes her to live at his home with his aunt.

Mary is happy in her new home until Monty Fisher, expert here to David, Mary disappears. Monty's sister Dora is jealous of David's attentions to Mary. Dora wants to marry David and is afraid that he is in love with Mary.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY For now, she knew that it had not only been her imagination that David was unusually attentive to Mary; that it was a reality—that in all probability David was in love with her!

In love! With that white-faced, silent woman? She ground her teeth savagely. She thought over and over again: "If I could only prevent it if it cost her everything she had!"

So that was the truth, at last! This woman was not Nigel's wife, but an adventuress who had schemed for her place!

She paced her room half the night; she would marry David whatever happened; she would be mistress of Red Grange in spite of this white-faced interloper!

She did not trouble herself with details of the story; she never gave Nigel's real wife a thought; all that mattered to her was to prevent Mary getting the man she herself wanted.

Monty glanced anxiously at her when they met at breakfast, but apparently she was smiling and unruffled. She made herself charming to David; she spoke to him sympathetically, as if she understood what he was going through. He talked on and on about his unhappiness and in trouble; she tactfully left the two men together as soon as the meal was over.

But they went out of the house almost immediately. David could not rest, he said; he must be up and doing; every moment of delay gave Mary a better chance to get away.

But there was so little they could do. He followed Monty about the whole morning, doing everything that was possible; his first outburst of anger came when Fisher said, smiling:

"Now we can sit down and wait patiently."

David caught up the word with passion.

"Wait? When anything may be happening to her. Surely, there must be something we can do; I can stand anything but this inaction. You don't know how I blame myself."

Monty had guessed what she would do.

Fisher protested.

"I am to blame, if anyone. It was I who drove her away."

David dismissed the thought; he had been to blame, and he alone, he told himself.

He had had his chance that last night when he and she drove back to the station; he might have told her then that he knew all her ways; he might have told her that he would love her something else, too—that he loved her, and that because he loved her, he could forgive everything.

But the moonlight hour had passed; he had let it slip through his careless fingers; and now it was too late.

He left Fisher at his office, and went off alone. He told that he must walk—walk, to outstrip the glare of remorse and anxiety that shadowed him.

Mary was somewhere in London—of that he was sure; perhaps one day he would come face to face with her when he was least expecting it. A little thrill warmed his heart.

How fast he would hold her if that day ever came! She should never escape him again.

But it is only in dreams, or between the pages of romance, that such things happen.

CHAPTER II A Chance Meeting

Dora was left to a solitary lunch. She had ordered an especially dainty meal, thinking that David would be there to share it with her; but he did not come, and she ate it alone.

Monty had purposely kept him out, she told herself resentfully; Monty was working against her, not with her; she could not understand how it was that he had changed so, once she had been tried to get the moon for her hand she wished for it.

It was a lovely afternoon; and after dragging out a listless hour on the chance of David returning, she went out.

As a rule she went straight to the West End, and spent her time amongst the shops; but today some how she felt out of tune with her old world.

A girl doesn't deserve much credit for catching herself a husband during the beautiful months of May and June.

Only a few old-fashioned men and women are still standing around arguing about women's rights.

Nothing makes a man want to go out and chew tobacco as much as seeing a male movie vamp at sipped up and acting real 'cute.

The army is using gas to cure horses and can secure a natural supply from congress.

Among the things usually forgotten at a picnic is to burn the rubbish and put out the fire before leaving.

What was the use of being beautiful if beauty could not win all one wanted? What was the use of beauty if one could not suitably adorn it?

David was the richest man she knew; Red Grange alone was worth making sacrifices to win. She had built so many castles for the future dreamed so much of all she would do when she reigned there as his wife; it seemed thousands of more desirable now than in all probability it would never be hers. She stared up impatiently and walked on over the soft grass.

All her life she had never been thwarted; she would win now—she would!

She raised her head with a fierce gesture of defiance, and saw Mary Farnival coming through the sun shine towards her.

The two girls were quite close together, or it is possible that Mary would have turned back; but recognizing that it was too late, she stood her ground.

Dora Fisher was a quick thinker; in an instant she had decided upon her plan of campaign. She went forward with hand outstretched.

"I was just thinking about you! Oh, you poor dear! Whatever will you do?"

Mary had flushed when she first saw Dora, but she was pale enough again now; even her lips looked white.

"I don't understand you. I—I—" she faltered, and broke down.

"We know everything, of course," Dora went on in her soft silky voice. "David is staying with us now; he came up to us directly. Oh, I am so glad for you!"

The words sounded genuine enough; her beautiful face was full of sympathy.

She gave Mary no time to answer, but went on:

"David is simply furious, of course. He won't listen to reason at all, though Monty and I have both done our best for you. He simply won't believe that you just got fit on the impulse of the moment. He talks as if you were some horrid adventuress. As if it were true! Wt. I liked you from the very first moment I saw you!"

"He—he is furious—with me?"

CHAPTER III Dora's Plan

"You know what the Brethertons are," said Dora—"such a proud lot! I suppose he hates to feel that he has been deceived, I suppose he is angry for Nigel's sake, too."

"He has every right to be—there is no excuse to be made for me. But I never meant to stay; it was only—only that I just wanted to see the Red Grange again."

Mary hardly knew why she defended herself to this girl; instinctively she distrusted her; but she was longing to hear something of David. Already it seemed years since she saw him; already her heart was crying out for him.

"You poor dear!" Dora still held her hand; she patted it soothingly. "You need not be afraid that I shall tell him I have seen you; I wouldn't think of telling him. I have never even told him how dreadfully angry I am. He has cast his eyes down effectively, and I know him pretty well."

Mary's heart gave a little throb of pain. This girl was so beautiful! She realized it afresh as she looked at her now.

David had denied once that she was anything to him. Miss Verner had denied it, too—but was it true? She drew her hand gently away.

"I am afraid it must be going," Dora said, a little hesitantly. "But I want to help you. Don't you believe I am your friend?"

"You are very kind, but I don't think I want any friends. All my life I seem to have done without them, except—"

She broke off with sudden tender memory of Nigel; he had been a kind friend to her.

"But you will want them, I am sure you will," Dora urged eagerly. "And if you will trust me, I am sure I could help you. You don't seem to understand that David is looking for you because—oh, perhaps you don't know what you have done—impersonating someone else, I mean—is punishable by law."

Mary stared at Dora Fisher with a fast paling face; for a moment, she could not speak—then she tried to laugh.

"Punishable by law? Oh, no, surely not! I haven't stolen anything. I haven't taken anything that didn't belong to me. Oh, it's surely isn't!"

"My brother tells me it is—he ought to know. But you need not look so afraid—I am not going to tell them that I have seen you—they never would know."

WISE PROFESSOR CAMBRIDGE, England, May 23.—A blind professor of mathematics at Cambridge University made the remark at a party here that a lady, who had just left the room had very beautiful teeth. He was asked how he could tell.

"When I heard her continually laughing," he said, "I could only suppose she had beautiful teeth." He was right.

Thrift Essays Written for First National Bank by Pupils of Port Arthur Public Schools

The word thrift in its origin means the grasping or holding fast the things that we have. It involves self-denial and frugal living for the time being, until prosperity which grows out of thrift permits the more liberal indulgence of natural desires.

The savings bank is one of the greatest encouragements to thrift, because it pays a premium on deposits. Economics which enable a man to start a savings account are not usually pinching economies, but the stinting of the necessities of life, but merely the foregoing of selfish pleasure which sap the physical strength and undermine the health of brain and body.

The saving habit indicates an ambition to get on an up in the world. It develops a spirit of independence. A bank account indicates a desire to improve one's conditions. It means hope, ambition, a determination to "make good." All fortunes have their foundation laid in economy.

Seniors Hold Class Day At High School

Class day—the day fraught with so many delightful memories for all school students—was held yesterday morning by the Seniors at Port Arthur High school. Many enjoyable events tended to make the affair a memorable occasion for not only the seniors but all other classes representing the school.

The Juniors, whose antics and boisterous are always taken, quite lightly by the Seniors, took the opportunity yesterday morning of showing the Seniors what they thought of them. Letitia Ahjzen, a Junior, attired as Rybi, the fortune teller, told the future of the Seniors of '24 in quite a novel manner.

Jimmy Krimmeyer, a Senior, was impersonated by Zeb Crouch, Junior, attired in a band costume. Glen Gute, the owner of a theater, was impersonated by Loren Mackey, Ed Laughlin, or Luther Matson, dressed in a typical tramp costume, brought forth much applause.

Florence Coleman, said to be great in dancing, had as her double, Luce Burke. He had on a ballet costume, and with his blonde hair, rosy cheeks and red lips, was the "hit" of the morning.

Russel Butand created much mirth in his impersonation of Izzy Stewart, the singing lady of the circus. He was buffed and wore a wide hat.

Carrying out the prophecy in the "Seagull," Ruth Darby and Robert Brewer were found spooning, but it later turned out that these two were Harly Akim and Gene Paul Starck.

These were only a few of the clever impersonations given by the Juniors for the entertainment of the Seniors.

After an address of welcome to the incoming Freshmen and the responses by representatives from the Franklin and DeQueen schools, the Juniors' gifts were presented to the Seniors. Many laugh-provoking presents were received by the Seniors.

Ed Laughlin was presented with a pie of cheese, being reminded that he was only a small piece after all. Bob Walker was given a pair of pants; Ruth Mackay was given a ring because Maurice Blackman couldn't buy her one. Catherine McGuire was presented with some jelly-bears because it was said she was so crusty about them. Fred Steussy one of the members of the Senior class who wears short pants, was the proud possessor of a pair of long trousers. Leon Smith, being of an oratorical mind, was presented with a silver loving cup, in reality a baby's drinking cup. Sam Pier, the smallest member of the class, received a pair of hose and was told not to mistake them for hip boots.

The class poem was given by Leon Smith in an effective manner, and the assembly was closed with a speech by President Leonard Foster of the Port Arthur College.

Mrs. Bostic Entertains At Bridge

Mrs. Dewey Bostic proved a charming hostess Wednesday afternoon when she entertained the members of the Octagon Bridge club at her home, 700 Eleventh street.

Beautiful vivid hued roses and carnations were used with pretty effect in the home adornment, and suggested the theme which was displayed in the bridge table adornments and all details of the affair. Mints were served during the games, following which a dainty ice-course, featuring the color scheme, was served. In the games Mrs. T. E. Halsell was awarded the prize for high score and consolation fell to Mrs. John Hiler. The guest favor was presented to Mrs. J. A. House.

Those enjoying the afternoon were Mrs. Lee Sontag, Mrs. John Hiler, Mrs. T. E. Halsell, Mrs. N. W. Sumrall, Mrs. E. Clarence Deloach, Mrs. L. M. Myers, Mrs. J. A. House, and Mrs. Dewey Bostic.

A dainty yellow and white theme was attractively displayed in the home adornment and in the bridge table appointments. Sweet peas and lovely roses gave floral charm to the room. In the games Mrs. E. A. Bond scored high and received a pretty award, and high score was awarded to Mrs. B. Minter.

Players for the afternoon included Mrs. C. H. Jones, Mrs. C. H. Fitzgerald, Mrs. B. Minter, Mrs. Kyle Dwyer, Miss Alma Garrett, Mrs. M. P. Folse, Mrs. E. A. Rossi and Mrs. Gilbert Root.

Prominent Women Reveal Facts About Karnak

Right: Mrs. Jennie Reeves

Of the many grateful statements given in praise of Karnak for the wonderful benefits obtained through its use probably none are more interesting than those of Mrs. Martin Chellev and Mrs. Jennie Reeves.

Mrs. Chellev, who is a highly esteemed resident at 530 Cleveland Avenue, Wichita, Kans., says: "Most all my life I have suffered from stomach trouble and for the past five or six years my condition was so deplorable I could hardly eat enough to keep body and soul together. Gas, from my undigested food, would press around my heart until I felt as if I would smother, and I was in misery for hours after every meal. I was nervous and sleepless and so weak and run-down I never felt like turning my hands to do a thing about the house. But Karnak helped me from the very start and now I am no longer bothered with any of my old troubles. I feel so strong and healthy I can do my housework with ease. I think Karnak is the greatest medicine on earth."

Extolling the many other statements from prominent Kansas City residents, Mrs. Jennie Reeves, 814 Harrison Avenue, Kansas City, Mo., states: "For four years I suffered from such a bad case of stomach trouble, weak spells and nervousness that I had about lost hope of ever being well again. Everything I ate caused my agony, and my nerves were strained near the breaking point every minute of the day. I had spent hundreds of dollars trying to get my health back and was about the most discouraged woman in Kansas City. Well, Karnak has restored me to perfect health, and I always feel eager for the day's work and pleasures now, just like I used to years ago. My gratitude to Karnak is simply unbounded."

Karnak gets the stomach right, aids digestion, increases nutrition and strength, helps purify the blood and co-operates with Nature to restore the body to a condition of health, strength and vitality. Its phenomenal success has become the sensation of the drug trade.

The regular retail price is $1.50 per bottle. If you are not satisfied and delighted with the substantial and lasting benefits received, your money will be cheerfully refunded.

Karnak is sold in Port Arthur by The Corner Drug Store—Adv.

I was really surprised, Ruth dear, when Karl left me so abruptly. I don't understand him at all. Surely he must love Alice, or he would not have asked her to marry him.

Karl, you know dear, is a queer sort of a chap—lovable in the extreme, but a man who wants to be left alone and cares very little for society; who has no vague love of beauty, and is kindly disposed of to every one, because to be kind is easiest for him.

I don't think he'll be happy being managed by Alice, and no one could live with Alice without being managed. To tell you the truth, dear, I am much disappointed in my little sister. She is too self-centered, too selfish to appeal to me. Although mother has said nothing to me about it, I think she has this feeling too. I caught her two or three times the other evening, when Alice was making Karl fetch and carry for her, looking at Alice with a sad smile.

Nevertheless, Ruth dear, I am afraid I'm in for all sorts of complications with these pearls. They certainly are a jinx to me. Now that I have promised Karl never to fetch them up, what will I do if he tells Jack about them? he insists upon my doing it? And besides all this, I know that Alice has made up her mind to have them. She will try in every way to persuade me to give or sell them to her.

Sometimes I think, dear, that it isn't the big things in life that fry one's soul. We can make a great sacrifice, or a great effort, but the continual little nipping details of life, the continual feeling of unrest when in the company of those with whom we must live daily, the continual annoyances that are so peculiar that we are ashamed to speak of them—these are the things that make modern matrimony.

Edgerly (I met him on my return from my walk in the park) if you had heard from Walter Burke. It seems that he has heard from him, and that Walter is on his return trip home.

I expect my dear, that in a few months, when you marry Walter, I shall have to declare a partnership in the lingerie shop and take it over; for of course Walter Burke, as rich as he is, would never allow his wife to be in business. 'Tis will probably be no sailing away around the world, and oh, how I'll miss you.

When I returned last night in my hand 12 crisp, new $500 bills, and he said:

"I hope nothing will happen to these until you get them out of your possession, Leslie."

Presently, in my own mind, I hoped so too.

Is there anything you want me to bring for the shop? We've got money to burn, dear partner, because I am not going to give this money back to John, and that will make telling him about the pearls much harder than it was before.

Goodness, I'm having so much trouble with my little string of pearls as did the famous French queen with the necklace that over-drew a dynasty.

Write me if you want to make any purchases. I'll be home very soon.

With love,
LESLIE

POOR MUSIC KEEPS PEOPLE FROM CHURCH

LANSING, Mich., May 22.—Dr. Francis L. York, head of the Detroit Conservatory of Music, blamed the ignorance of churchmen for the present low standards of church music in an address before the Michigan Federation of Music clubs here.

"The preachers only permit music to fill in the gaps," he stated. "They should encourage the congregation to do part of the worshiping through musical expression."

The speaker charged that the attitude of the clergy toward music in the "one big reason" why the churches cannot hold people as they once did.

"THE LONE HORSEMAN"

Marked by a splendid horsemanship and lightning gun play, "The Lone Horseman" will open tomorrow at the Liberty theater.

The cast is headed by Jack Perrin and Josephine Hill, two young players whose ability and charm have endeared them to thousands of motion picture patrons.

The story deals with the adventures of a clean-cut, husky young man who has left his home in Kentucky and started his new life as the sheriff of Cady Creek, a little town in the Nevada foothills. All goes well until the sinister shadow of an incident to his past life looms up in an unexpected manner and threatens to block the way to duty, love and honor. How he finally overcomes all obstacles to his happiness and peace of mind makes a photoplay that is bound to please.

"BAD MAN"

The five-year-old story that Holbrook Rhine wears in Edwin Carewe's production of "The Bad Man," which is now showing at the Peoples theater, is the only real, pure unadulterated Mexican sombrero in all of California.

When Rhine arrived in Los Angeles, he found that one of his trunks had disappeared en route and in it was his treasured hat. Search was instituted the breadth and length of the land for a hat, but none could be found. There were plenty of so-called Mexican sombreros but they were not the real article.

Finally Rhine learned of a Los Angeles physician who was a collector of Mexican hats. In his collection he found a sombrero and the physician kindly loaned it to him for the picture.

"POISONED PARADISE"

To the budding young authors who are seeking in stories for Kenneth Harris, one word of advice. Send no more "dude, cake-ender" roles to the creator of a new "Virginia" and the actor of the principal role in "Poisoned Paradise," at the Peoples theater here.

Kenneth has announced his future professional avocation to the roles in which he dons immediate attire and walks through several reels of film to the inevitable climax with the heroine.

"BROTHER AGAINST BROTHER"

A large crowd was present last night at the Garden Air Dome to witness the Ferguson Brothers presentation of "Brother Against Brother."

One would almost call the play a farcical melodrama, as the comedy predominated, the audience congenially being in paroxysms of laughter yet there were serious and tense moments and the climaxes were good.

Edward Ferguson as Jew "Lamson" was easily the star of the evening while Albert Ferguson ran him a close second as the wronged brother, Clyde, Armstrong as the "villainous" brother won the whole-hearted hatred of the gallery gods and was thoroughly hissed for his wicked doings. Miss Gertrude Wood was winning and charming as the heroine. Miss Frances Adams gave a natural interpretation of the boy, Miss Violet Whitworth and Mr. Robert Sumner, the former as Tony, the sun-beseeper, and the latter gave his usual splendid performance, and Cash Tomlinson as the rough sea captain and the prison warden was up to the minute.

Tonight the big amateur contest will take place, a large number of talent has been registered and a great many more no doubt will be on hand by the time the contest comes off, cash prizes will be given to the best, the audience to decide by their applause which are the most worthy ones.

Music, dances, recitations, and all manner of stunts will be offered and a large turnout is expected to see the future actors and actresses of Port Arthur.

Sunday the company will present "The Lottery," claimed to be one of the biggest successes that ever toured this country.

Mother, Children in One Bed; Man, Dog in Other

MILWAUKEE, May 22.—While a mother and six small children occupied a single bed, the oldest son, 15, occupied a double bed with his Alaskan dog. This condition was revealed in a Port Washington Road home when Judge E. T. Fairchild of juvenile court ordered the five children, ranging in age from 2 to 12, taken from the custody of the mother and made wards of the county.

Probation officers testified that the home was the filthiest in the county. Although the place was unplastered and the window openings unplastered, the son sported an automobile. Goats occupied the house.

BURGLAR TAKES CAKE AND SHAVING OUTFIT

SAN FRANCISCO, May 22.—Morris Emanuel, known to the police as the "V burglar," because he made a practice of cutting V-shaped apertures in doors for entrance, was sentenced to San Quentin by Superior Judge Louderback. Emanuel confessed that he committed more than 50 burglaries here and in Oakland. Specifically he was charged with breaking into the home of A. W. Brandt, 2103 Buchanan street, on December 3. When Emanuel was arrested he told the police that while he was robbing a house in Oakland the doorbell rang. He answered and found a collector for a newspaper there. He paid the bill of 90 cents, sent the collector away and then finished rifling the rooms.

Cleveland Is Back in American League Pennant Contest

Speaker Pleased At Progress of Club

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Sport Editor

NEW YORK, May 23.—"Cleveland is not out of the American League pennant race. We are just getting started," Tris Speaker, manager of the Indians, said last night before leaving for Boston.

Many critics before the season opened picked Cleveland to be the runnerup to the Yankees and the pennant winner if the champions happened to blow their fine chances.

When the Ohio club got away to a bad start and floundered around in the second division the season was hard to find. Some eastern critics said the team had been vastly over rated.

Chances Are Slim
The Indians had only one chance, when it wasn't raining, to show against the Yankees put in that one game they looked like a real formidable club.

Speaker admits that his pitching disappointed him and it must have been the loose work in the box that has kept the club down in the race. The team has a brilliant outfield, a good infield and one of the greatest hitting organizations in the big leagues. Stephenson is now out of the game and his work at second base is missed.

Walter Hoyt, who is regarded in the Yankee camp as an Indian killer, beat the club yesterday but he outkicked the Indians more than he outpitched them and was saved by some of the most sparkling fielding that has been seen here this year.

The Indians in their one game looked far better than the Chicago White Sox. They looked to have more staying strength than the Boston Red Sox who are now burning up the league.

STEERS TAKE CONTEST ON LOCKER'S FUMBLE

Special to N.Y. News
LOCKER, Beaumont second sacker, fumbled in a pinch yesterday and Dallas won again, 8 and 7. The score: Dallas, 8; Houston, 7. The game was played at the University of Texas stadium. Dallas' offense was led by quarterback Tommie Hunter, who threw for 100 yards and a touchdown. Houston's defense was led by end Tommie Hunter, who made a key fumble recovery.

The game was a close one, with Dallas leading 7-0 at halftime. Houston's defense held Dallas' offense to a field goal in the second half. The game ended with Dallas winning 8-7.

RACE TRACK IN STADIUM LARGE

Course Will Care For High School Studies

AUSTIN, Texas, May 23.—Two unusual features of the race track in the Texas Memorial Stadium, which is in process of construction at the University of Texas, is the present three-mile track, and a 200-yard straightaway. An additional feature of the track will be that every spectator in the grandstands will be able to see every runner in the race.

The track is being made five feet wider than the average track in order to accommodate the high school students who come to Austin every year for the Intercollegiate League meet. This track will eliminate a number of the preliminaries, and hence make it easier on the runners.

The 200-yard straightaway will be an unusually welcome feature to track men, especially hurdlers and dash men. It will eliminate the turn on the 200-yard dash, and hence enable the runners to make better time, and will perform a similar service to the hurdlers in the 200-yard low hurdles.

The track has been especially designed, and is being constructed so that every spectator will have a clear view of the running track. This removes one of the objections to the races which have been held in Clark Field, where it is difficult to view the runner.

Poor Selection of Food is Sufficient to Make Poor Business Man Tired

BALANCE IS AN ESSENTIAL

Many Men Are Poorly 'Regulated'

BY MARY I. BARBER

Do you remember the scene from a recent musical comedy, "What makes the business man tired? Only the business man knows."

A poor selection of food is one thing that may make anyone tired. One of our most interesting indoor sports in restaurants is noticing what business men and women choose for their luncheon. A very common selection is meat, potatoes, white bread and butter, coffee and pie.

"Well, what is the matter with that?" Someone may say. The matter is that this meal contains practically no regulating material. By regulating material we mean foods that are rich in fiber, minerals or vitamins.

Vegetables such as spinach and cabbage are blessed with all three of these characteristics. Bran and whole wheat are also regulating foods. Fruits and milk (on account of the mineral and vitamin content) should have a place on the menu every day.

If the business man would add spinach or lettuce to his meat and potato meal, substitute a dark bread for white bread, and milk for coffee, he would feel less tired later in the day. It is also probable that he would be less likely to suffer later on from the so-called middle aged diseases.

If a man eats meat for dinner and possibly for breakfast, wise selection of his luncheon is even more important. A green vegetable, salad, bran, muffins and dessert. If a heavier meal is required, a cream soup may be added. The main dish of eggs may be varied by a cheese dish, salad, sole or other fish. In warm weather, salad may often form the chief part of the meal. Stuffed eggs, cottage cheese, shrimp with celery, tomatoes stuffed with chicken and vegetable salads are all satisfying.

Over-eating at noon makes one sleepy. Foods containing little or no regulating material cause "that tired feeling." The business man can avoid this by an intelligent choice of his mid-day meal.

Here's a suggestion:

- Vegetable soup
- Cheese and lettuce sandwich on brown bread
- Custard Pie
- Milk
- Corn Flakes with Berries and Cream
- Vegetable salad
- Rolls
- Pudding
- Coffee
- Graham Crackers and Milk
- Soup (Use bran instead of crackers)
- Salad
- Biscuits
- Baked apple
- Broiled Ham
- Candied sweet potatoes
- Cabbage
- Bran Muffins
- Fruit Gelatine
- Tea

Houston Paid Contempt Fine For Beating Drum Near Court

Aged Tennessean Tells Vivid Narrative of Incident in Life of Texas President

AUSTIN, May 23.—Vivid narrative of Sam Houston's appearance in a Tennessee court to pay a fine for contempt, "for annoying the court with the noise of a drum," by conducting the drill of a militia company in the court yard as told in Texas for the first time in a letter received by the State S. L. Staples from an aged Tennessean friend of Houston makes the general appear more human and real, and gives a more intimate understanding of his vivacious personality, than all the deeds of the first president of the Texas republic, and all the records of his statesmanship and of his heroism.

Anecdotes of Houston's early life have been collected by Will A. McTeer of Maryville, Tenn., Houston's birthplace. Attorney McTeer has collected original data concerning Houston's early life, the start of his military career, and has furnished it to Secretary of State Staples, at the request of the Texas official.

Attorney McTeer recently visited the old Houston home, nine miles out in the country from Maryville.

"The place where the home stood," he said, "is marked by a pile of dirt where the chimney stood, the house having been burned several years ago. The place of the old home is now simply a field in cultivation," Mr. McTeer wrote.

"Samuel Houston went to school to Rev. Isaac J. Anderson, D. D., founder of the Maryville college. It was related by a granddaughter of James

Houston, Sam's cousin, before her death last year at 80-years of age, that the future general often "got into mischief," and that the school-master often made up his mind to punish him, but that "the boy would get off with some witticism or trick that would make him laugh and change his mind."

Houston's start on a military career was given him by Charles W. C. Norwood, it was claimed. Norwood and Houston lived on neighboring farms and were chums. There are several versions that when he reached early manhood Houston became involved financially. In those days persons were imprisoned for debt. Norwood's story is that Houston came to him, telling of his distress, and that he advised the future general to enlist in the army; that a bounty was given for enlistments, with which Houston could pay off his debts. Houston enlisted at Maryville or elsewhere, settled his debts, and began his military career in Jackson's army which won his renown. He enlisted either at Maryville or Kingston, where, for a time he was employed by a merchant.

TRAIN TO SELL?
SEWARD, Alaska, May 23.—The Alaska Railroad is in the market for a passenger train—three coaches, two sleepers and one diner. The line already has engines to haul the train and recently purchased a baggage car in Chicago. With the opening of tourist travel in June, more equipment will be necessary.

NOW IS TIME TO ADVERTISE

Rankin Sees Big Opportunity for Far Sighted Ones

BY WILLIAM H. RANKIN

Secretary of Labor Davis has just given out a splendid interview.

"May Day," which sees disturbance and disquiet in many countries found the United States at the highest point of industrial peace," said Secretary Davis.

"There is today practically a job for every worker. Wages and conditions of labor are better than they have ever been before. The building trades in all of our great cities show steady employment at high wages. Grievances where they exist are being adjusted and in many instances wage agreements are being formulated to cover long periods in the future."

The country shows a great building program, with employers and workers cooperating for its success.

And Arthur Brisbane, always on the job—right up to the minute—has the following to say today in his

"Today's Column"—
"Of two American men talking to each other, often one is asking, 'What do you think about business?' Will the national election disturb prosperity, etc., etc. The United States hasn't started on its prosperity. With Mellon in the treasury the nation's debts are cut down. Meanwhile the people are saving and putting away thirty million dollars a day, in savings banks and good investments. Why worry?"

"No one realizes how things grow in America, how rapidly we are climbing toward really gigantic enterprises, works, in size of the richest country. Recently some figures of New York's National City Bank were published. In May, 1933, deposits in that bank amounted to twenty-two millions, and total resources of twenty-five million."

"On April 1 of this year the bank's deposits were seven hundred and forty millions, the total resources nine hundred and thirty-four millions."

"In the report of this April the bank showed among its assets more than ninety-five millions of United States Government bonds and certificates. And in thirty days that have elapsed since that report was published, the bank has a profit of a million and a quarter on the increased value of its Government bonds."

"This isn't a government to sell short, and not one to make its citizens worry."

"You know the story of the man that was frightened to death by practical jokes. They tied him to a chair, gagged him, put his feet in water, told him they were going to cut the sides of his feet and let him bleed to death. The water was colored red, the dull side of the razor was passed across the sides of his bare feet, and the man, believing that he was bleeding to death, actually died of heart failure. That was a foolish joke. Don't frighten prosperity to death."

I read those two articles on the train this morning. They were inspiring and reassuring. And because they confirmed in a large measure my own information, I was prompted to send this article to a list of advertisers and business men; now, rather than later, because now is the opportune time to reach happy, contented and financially prosperous people—now when they have money to invest in securities, worth-while merchandise—now, through the newspapers and farm papers because the advertiser can reach them quickest and most effectively.

What we want the newspaper men and farm paper to do is to sell their own space, redouble their efforts and advertise the value of their publication in their own columns. Help take the advertiser's goods off the dealers' shelves. Help sell the dealers' automobiles, tires, batteries, etc. Let all advertisers know that now is the time to really advertise, and help their salesmen sell more goods—NOW—the opportune time.

Left Over Meats May Tastefully be Used for Croquettes; Vegetables Make for Health

MILK IN SOUP GOOD FOR TOTS

White Sauce May Be Used For Potatoes

Lamb or any cold meat may be used for the croquettes. This is a good way to use left-over scraps of meat. For the vegetable soup fresh vegetables or left-over vegetables may be utilized. If there are children in the family, white sauce may be used as the basis of the soup instead of stock, thus introducing more milk. The soup may be given to the children instead of meat. Part of the white sauce may be reserved to serve with the vegetable soup and mashed potatoes for the adults. At this time of the year when vegetables are so plentiful, they should be used at every meal in as many ways as possible. When raised in the garden they are inexpensive, and better for the general health than any tonic.

TO ROAST BEEF

As soon as your meat comes from the market remove it from the paper and put it on ice. Wipe with a cheesecloth, kept for the purpose, wrung out of cold water. Never let meat stand in water, cold or otherwise, as the water draws out the juices and much nourishment is lost.

A roast should always be put into a hot oven to quickly cook the surface and prevent the cooking constantly. At the end of 15 minutes the meat should be seared all over. Then reduce the heat and allow 15 minutes for each pound if wanted "rare" and 20 to 25 if wanted "well done."

A roast of beef can be cooked deliciously in a common, ordinary "spider." It will require basting 10 minutes and should not be dredged with flour before putting in the oven. Mix one teaspoon salt and one-eighth teaspoon pepper for each pound of meat. Rub well into meat before putting in the pan. Have the oven very hot. Put just enough boiling water into pan to cover bottom of frying pan, use meat and roast for 15 minutes. Then baste with dripping in the pan every 10 minutes. If the pepper, put in the roaster and dredge with flour and put in a hot oven. Basting is not necessary but occasional turning and watching will produce an even roasting. The gravy is made in just the same fashion as described, the flour in the roaster adding richness and color.

No water should be necessary when a self-basting roaster is used, but if you are afraid the flour may burn in the bottom of the pan a few tablespoons can be added; when the roast is put into the oven.

No matter what cut of roast you have chosen these general directions should be followed. The tenderest meat comes from the part of the beef in which the muscles are least used. This meat is finer grained and takes less time for cooking. These cuts make the finest roasts. The first three ribs make a delicious roast and are usually less expensive than a sirloin or porterhouse roast. Rib roasts are used rolled, or "standing." Rolled—simply means that the bone is removed and the meat skewered and tied into a firm roll. You will find a rolled roast much easier to carve than a standing roast, but the standing roast makes the best gravy. So there you are.

"I have received a perfect deluge of letters," she said, "and they take too much of my time, with final examinations coming on. Mostly they were from silly men who wanted me to arrange marriages for them or give them the names of a coeque or Emporia girl that they could correspond with."

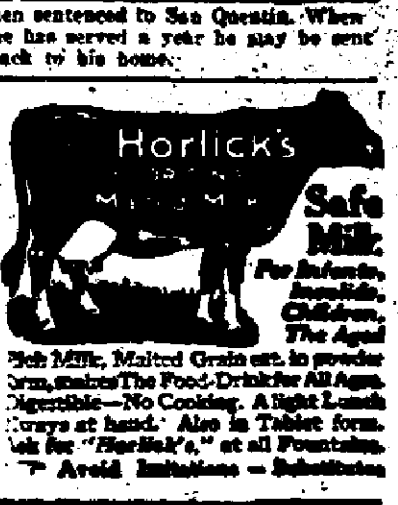

Miss Markley organized her dating agency a month ago, offering to make dates for bashful men and timid coeds of the college at $2.50. The idea spread far beyond the campus. Miss Markley has received letters from New Jersey, New York, Kentucky, Washington, California and points between. "I wanted just a local business, not a matrimonial bureau," she declared. "So I will sell out for $2. If no one offers me that much, I guess I will just close."

HOMESICK, ORGED; NOW IN PENITENTIARY

SAN FRANCISCO, May 23.—The plans of John Ordonez, an artist, to go back to his home in Mexico through federal deportation were upset before Superior Judge Louderback. Ordonez had been found guilty of forging a check for $250.

Deportation would have taken place but the court learned that Ordonez could not be deported until he had been in the penitentiary. He was then sentenced to San Quentin. When he has served a year he may be sent back to his home.

'MODERNISTS' LOSE ELECTION

Presbyterian Fundamentalists Elect Moderator

By United Press.
GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., May 22.—Fundamentalists appeared to be in control of the 120th general assembly of the Presbyterian church in convention here today.

Dr. Clarence McCartney, Philadelphia, late Thursday was elected moderator, succeeding Dr. Charles T. Wilburt, Wooster, Ohio. Dr. McCartney defeated Dr. Charles R. Erdman, theological professor at Princeton University by a vote of 404 to 413.

Dr. McCartney drew practically all of his votes from the conservative element. Dr. Erdman had many friends among the fundamentalists who believed him "safe and sane."

William Jennings Bryan, ardent fundamentalist, placed Dr. McCartney's name in nomination. Dr. John Timothy Stone, Chicago, nominated Dr. Erdman, and Dr. John Willie Beir, Pasadena, California, seconded it.

Dr. McCartney was installed in his office following election. He will conduct the remaining sessions of the assembly.

In appointing his committee today, Dr. McCartney placed fundamentalists in all of the important chairmanships. Dr. Mark Matthews of Seattle was named to head the important policy committee. Dr. Matthew Alexander of Pittsburgh will be chairman of the committee on bills and overtures. William Jennings Bryan was named a member of this committee.

The committee on judicial business will be presided over by Dr. John F. Carson of Brooklyn, while Dr. A. Gorman MacLennan will be chairman of the important foreign missions committee.

Believe Soldiers Met Death in Mt. Kilauea

HILO, T. H., May 22.—Belief that Howard Simmons and L. J. Hinnman, soldiers from Oahu, who were reported to have met a horrible death in the fiery cauldron of the volcano Kilauea, was growing today.

The two soldiers have been missing since Saturday. Search for them was abandoned yesterday. If they are still alive they probably are wandering in search of some native village or other habitation and have not yet been able to get into communication with friends in Hilo or Honolulu.

The volcano remained comparatively quiet much of last night. Three explosions have occurred during the last 24 hours, but they did not approach the violence of Monday's demonstration.

MRS. BYFIELD WINS HIGH COURT APPEAL

By United Press.
ATLANTA, Ga., May 22.—An appeal to the supreme court in her $100,000 suit against Walter T. Chandler, son of the late Col. J. M. Byfield, was granted Mrs. G. K. Byfield in the superior court here today.

The suit is the result of the now famous Chandler-Byfield episode on the river Berengaria when Mrs. Byfield and her husband, guests in the same party with Chandler charged him with attacking her in her stateroom. She recently lost her suit for damages in De Kalb.

LET BAD BOYS RUN TOWN IS NEW THEORY

WASHINGTON, May 22.—A so-called "bad-boy" problem is being worked out by parents in Clifton Village, Va.

They are organizing the Junior Government league and inviting all boys and girls from the first to eighth grades, inclusive, to take part in it.

The boys according to the parents, are only half-spirited and lashed with too much pep.

BURGLAR ANSWERS DOOR BELL AND PAYS BILL

FRESNO, Cal., May 22.—A thief, who evidently believes in a well-schooled appearance, as well as one who has a street tooth that prompts him to feast upon later cakes, has made his appearance in Fresno. A leather case containing a shaving outfit was purloined from the home of Mrs. A. Weaver. Two doors away two large cakes were taken the same night from the home of Mrs. A. L. Rinker. Entrance to the residences in each instance was effected through the use of a parakey.

WILL IN 14 WORDS

WABASH, Ind., May 22.—Pointed and plain-poken in life, Clark Weaver, Wabash pioneer, was pointed and plain-poken at his death. He disposed of his property in 14 words. "I will devise and bequeath to my wife, Anna T. Weaver, all my property," he wrote. The will was made February 24, 1911.

CITY COURT IS NOT INVOLVED

Decision Leaves Issue As It Stood

Validity of Port Arthur's corporation court was not involved in the action of the court of criminal appeals dismissing the habeas corpus case of N. F. Christian, appealed through 58th district court, Beaumont. This is word brought back to Port Arthur from Austin by Vernon by Victor J. Winters, city attorney today. Winters was in the state capital when the decision in the habeas corpus case was handed down, he said. The appeal was dismissed because it failed to give notice of appeal from the 58th district court, Beaumont. Winters said, "No opinion on the validity of Port Arthur's corporation court was given in the decision handed down by the court of criminal appeals dismissing the habeas corpus case. In fact, the decision was no longer than your finger," according to the city attorney. Action taken by the court of criminal appeals thus far leaves the corporation court here just as it has been since created by the last legislature. Winters explained, "The Christian appeal was dismissed upon a legal technicality, and without any opinion rendered by the court of criminal appeals upon the validity of the court here."

Connected in corporation court here on a minor complaint, Christian and several others appeal through 58th district court, one of the connections in the appeal being the invalidity of the corporation court here, attorneys said. Judge George C. O'Brien, in 58th district court, upheld the decision of the Port Arthur corporation court, and rendered an opinion that the court is good. Appeal from the district court's decision was then taken to the court of criminal appeals at Austin, where the case was dismissed.

ETTER ACCUSED OF SLAYING KIN

Trial June 4—Denied Permission to Attend Funerals

INDEPENDENCE, Kans. May 23.—Harley Etter, young farmer, charged with murdering his wife and infant child, will go on trial June 4. The date was set during the preliminary hearing which was held while the funeral of the slain woman and child was being held. Etter pleaded to be allowed to attend the funeral but was refused permission. A coroner's inquest was to be held today but little evidence was expected to be developed beside the known facts regarding finding of the bodies in a burning barn, covered with hay. Etter was spirited out of Independence to another town last night for safe keeping. Authorities fear an attempt at mob violence.

Four-fifths of the population of Louisiana are engaged in agriculture and stock-raising.

NAVY REPORT SHOWS SLUMP

Proves It Has Fallen Below Treaty Ratio

WASHINGTON, May 23.—Secretary of the Navy, William D. Dyer, today declared the United States navy has fallen a full point below the Washington treaty ratio will be laid before the house today.

It is expected that the report will give impetus to the drive being made by the house naval affairs committee for passage of the bill appropriating $154,000,000 for a five year construction program to restore the navy's full strength.

The report informed the house of the deficiency of the navy as follows:

1. Thirteen of our first line 18 ships are neither modern nor of the latest efficiency. They require gun elevation and additional armor protection and six should be converted for oil burning.
2. In cruisers the United States was third after Great Britain and Japan with a ratio of 3-4-1.
3. Thirty-five of our submarines are out of commission.
4. We have no submarines capable of maneuvering with the fleet.
5. The United States is far ahead in destroyers, though we lack tonnage leaders.
6. Great Britain is building two battleships; we are building none.
7. Great Britain is building nine light cruisers; Japan 12; France five; United States two.
